The College Club will meet Saturday afternoon at three o'clock with Mrs. Martin G. Benedict.

The officers are looking for a man alleged to have attempted an assault on a young girl named Liberty last Wednesday evening. The girl is unable to give a very accurate description of him but says he followed her until she was near the Hastings Bridge when he pushed her down a bank beside the road and would have overpowered her had she not screamed. Her cries attracted a man who was passing through the bridge and when he ran toward them her assailant fled.

Between 550 and 560 hunters licenses were granted at the town clerk's office this season. But few of them succeeded in getting a deer.

Mrs. John Bernier has sold her house on Concord Avenue to Mrs. Alice Haskins. Sale made by the Rickaby agency.

Chamberlin Post, G. A. R., will meet at their hall on Saturday afternoon for the annual election of officers.

The St. Johnsbury Prohibition club will hold its monthly meeting with Brother Walter Rodiff on Webster street, Thursday evening of this week.

The Chadbourne house at 42 Portland street has been sold to E. G. Hastings and after a few repairs have been made it will be for rent.

After December first the name of the St. Johnsbury Electric Company will be changed to the Twin State Gas and Electric Company, St. Johnsbury Division.

The Woman's Association of the North church cleared $355.19 on their sale held Nov. 20.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Welch had their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary last Wednesday. They celebrated it on Thanksgiving however, by a family dinner party. The guests were Mrs. Welch's brother-in-law, John Micheline, his wife and children, Misses Margaret and Catherine Micheline, and Dominic Micheline of Reading, Mass., Miss Catherine Collins of Canton, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Coleman. Mr. and Mrs. Coleman have recently returned from their wedding trip to Massachusetts. Previous to his wedding Mr. Welch was a successful farmer in Peacham, and the January following his wedding came to St. Johnsbury and went into the meat business, which he has followed ever since. He has always had a keen interest in the affairs of the town and is at present one of the board of selectmen. His bride, Mary A. Coleman, was a native of St. Johnsbury. They were married at the Notre Dame church by the late Rev. J. A. Boissonault. Mr. and Mrs. Welch have one daughter, Miss Lena Welch. Miss Elizabeth McGowan who was a bridesmaid at the wedding was among the guests at the anniversary dinner.

Last week Tuesday evening the F. C. A. gave a whist party at their hall with 49 tables in play. The first prizes were turkeys and were won by Mrs. Rosanna Boucher and Fred Brunelle; the second prizes were chickens which were won by Mrs. Joseph Ladriere and Albert Laliberte.

The St. Johnsbury Council of U. C. T. held a special meeting Saturday evening at the order of Grand Councilor of New England, Fred C. Gilson. All traveling men and their families were invited whether members of the order or not. An interesting program was given consisting of readings by Miss Randall, music by violin quartette, pupils of Miss Boynton and a violin solo by Allen Hunter. Speeches exemplifying the work of the order were made by Grand Councilor Gilson, William H. Stevens, grand master of work for New England and John Cook, chaplain of St. Johnsbury council. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, followed by dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Montgomery and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Daniels entertained a family party of 20 on Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. Daniels, this being the first reunion of the Montgomery family in 20 years. Those present beside the two families entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. William Montgomery of Randolph, P. Q.; Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Thompson and daughter, Vera of Sawyerville, P. Q.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Montgomery and daughter, Dorothy of Maple Hill, P. Q.; James Montgomery and two daughters, Marion and Margaret of Tilton, N. H.; and Stanley Montgomery of Nashua, N. H. During the day more than 50 persons called at the Daniels home and on Sunday all the families were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. John Montgomery and at supper by Mr. and Mrs. George Wright of Spring street, Mrs. Wright being a cousin of the Montgomerys.

Oliver Branch Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, gave their annual children's night last evening with a large attendance. A program was given consisting of a piano duet by Emily Thompson and Lillian Richards, readings by Eleanor and Doris Morrison and Margaret Perry, cornet solos by George McLeod and Harold

BIBLES FOR HARDWORK.
W. H. Jeffrey Held Two Successful Meetings in That Town Last Sunday

Two very successful meetings were held last Sunday in the interests of the movement to restore the Bible to the public schools. These meetings were held in the Congregational church at East Hardwick in the forenoon, and at the opera house, Hardwick, in the evening. Fully seven to eight hundred persons attended these meetings. The meeting at East Hardwick was addressed by Rev. Sidney Aldrich, (Baptist), Rev. Andrew Bole, (Congregationalist) and W. H. Jeffrey who is in charge of the campaign. Two copies of the Bible were presented to the schools of this village and a copy to a nearby Walden school.

The evening meeting at the opera house was addressed by Rev. J. Jones, (Methodist), Rev. E. G. French, (Congregationalist), Rev. Rev. H. H. White, (Baptist), Hon. Mason S. Stone, state superintendent of education and Mr. Jeffrey. This was one of the largest religious meetings ever held in the town of Hardwick, and the speakers were followed with the closest of attention and manifested a deep interest in the subject under discussion. Seven copies of the Bible were presented to seven boys and girls representing seven schools of the town. Bible meetings will be held Thursday evening of this week at the M. E. church in Sheffield; Friday evening, Congregational church at Danville Green, and Sunday at the M. E. church Plainfield. At each of these meetings Bibles will be given to the schools of the town.

PHILLIPS IS IN JAIL
Was Captured in Canada and Deported—Arrested When He Crossed the Line

Peter, otherwise known as "Gypsy" Phillips is in Caledonia county jail awaiting a hearing before the county court on the charge of assaulting Ernest Miles of Walden. His capture was made after a week's busy hunt by officers of this and Orleans counties and officers across the line in Canada. He was found near Knowlton Landing in Quebec last Wednesday and taken to Mansville by the Canadian officers and ordered deported. They placed him across the line and he was immediately arrested by the American officers. He was taken to Newport and placed in jail and Sheriff Worthen notified. The sheriff went to Newport Friday morning and brought him to the local jail.

Phillips was considerably fatigued by his long flight when placed under arrest and made no resistance. Phillips claims that he was not attempting to escape from the officers and that the injury of Miles was caused by his striking his head against a nail. The officers claim they have witnessed Phillips in the use of a knife in the fight with Miles and that his flight was cunningly planned and carried out.

GOOD WORK OF MR. WILLIAMS
Has Developed Art in Printing—His Wife a Great Aid

Graphic Arts for September has a very interesting article by George Kibbe Turner on "The Work of Herbert Deland Williams." One of the changes which has gradually come about in recent years is the introduction of printing and in this work Mr. Williams is one of the pioneers. In the 90's when this was beginning he was a printer then studied in art school and began his artistic career on the staff of the Youth's Companion. By the execution of hundreds of designs he developed the possibilities of the headpiece, the initial and the border decoration, then reached into other lines like book and magazine covers, for the leading publications of the great book and musical houses. Typical specimens of his work are the elaborate page decorations of Richard Le Gallienne's "The Highway to Happiness" and Lloyd Osbourne's "Three Speeds Forward."

In closing the article pays tribute to the part Mrs. Williams has played in her husband's success, "herself an artist of unusual talent and an extraordinarily wide range of abilities" and adds "Rarely is there such happy union of talents as occurs in 'Bonnie Green' the Williams' artistic little home and workshop, looking across to the Pallasades from Hastings-on-Hudson."

Quo Vadis
To all those who are interested in the future of the moving picture the presentation of Quo Vadis last week was an excellent proof of the possibilities in this form of entertainment. The wonderful setting for the play and the acting were of the very best, and only the absence of the voice made it seem in an way different from any drama of highest rank. Such a dramatization of so famous a book as "Quo Vadis" and dealing with times as thrilling as the reign of Nero and the eve of the fall of Rome demands a prominent place in the history of art, and it seems good fortune indeed that can give so realistic a photo-drama when it would be impossible to stage such a performance outside of a metropolis.

EAST RYEGATE
Mrs. Fannie Chamberlin entertained 22 members of her family including seven grandchildren Thanksgiving day, Fred Chamberlin of Concord, N. H., Mr. and Mrs. Markham of Woodville, Jay Chamberlin and family, Elmer Chamberlin and family and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chamberlin.

Address by H. N. Pringle
Rev. Henry N. Pringle's address in the Free Baptist church last Sunday evening was eloquent, instructive and inspiring. A great opportunity for the betterment of St. Johnsbury came to us with Mr. Pringle's visit; but, owing to the unfounded prejudice of some, the ignorance of many and the indifference of the majority of our people, only about 100 were present. We trust that when the International Reform Bureau has another representative in our city that the fact of his representing that institution will be sufficient to secure for him a generous hearing, and especially if that person should be the Rev. Henry N. Pringle, whose indefatigable efforts, remarkable courage and wonderful discretion enabled him to do so great a work for the civic betterment of the state of Maine for twelve years.
